Supreme Audit Institutions (SAIs) help their respective governments to improve performance, enhance transparency, ensure accountability, maintain credibility, fight corruption, promote public trust, and foster the efficient and effective receipt and use of public resources for the value and benefits of their citizens. SAIs also make an essential contribution to the success of the United Nations 2030 Agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Independent SAIs are essential and valuable

for the international community and the community of donors

- good governance, better public management and a transparent, accountable and responsible use of public funds
- the rule of law, integrity, economic growth, social justice and equity
- enhanced performance of the public sector
- the fight against corruption, waste and inefficiency
- the successful implementation of the United Nations 2030 Agenda through reviewing and following-up on the implementation of the SDGs

for the citizens

- strengthening parliamentary scrutiny and democracy through holding governments to account
- strengthening the trustworthiness and effectiveness of the public sector
- the country’s stability and economic growth
- improving public service delivery
- deterring fraud in public administration

for the United Nations

- the fact that SAIs can accomplish their tasks objectively and effectively only if they are independent of the audited entity and protected against outside influence
- the important role of SAIs in promoting the efficiency, accountability, effectiveness and transparency of public administration – factors that are also conducive to the achievement of the SDGs
Challenges to SAI independence

Legal status

68% of SAIs perceive the legislative framework to be adequate. An analysis showed that an inadequate legal framework is linked to lower levels of democracy and government functioning.

Operational independence / publication of reports

70% of SAIs publish at least 80% of their audit reports (58% in 2017).

13% of SAIs state that they have no power at all in deciding on reporting, publication and dissemination of their reports (10% in 2017).

Only 44% of SAIs report full access to timely and unrestricted information (70% in 2017).

Only 66% of Parliaments worldwide report to have clearly established procedures for reviewing audit reports published by SAIs (data provided by the Interparliamentary Union).

Financial independence

Only 52% of SAIs report to have sufficient financial resources to fulfil their mandate to the expected extent and quality.

40% of SAIs report an interference by the executive in the budget process (64% in 2017).
INTOSAI initiatives to foster SAI independence

INTOSAI has been an ardent advocate of SAI independence. The following lists the numerous measures taken by the organization to promote and raise awareness for this issue:

- Adoption of the Lima Declaration of Guidelines on Auditing Precepts (1977)

- Organization of the 17th UN/INTOSAI Seminar on “The Independence of Supreme Audit Institutions” (2007)

- Achievement of the repeated support by the United Nations, in particular via the General Assembly Resolutions A/66/209 (2011) and A/69/228 (2014)

- Preparation and dissemination of the folder on SAI independence among the INTOSAI member SAIs containing the eight pillars of independence as laid down in the Mexico Declaration and the UN General Assembly Resolution A/66/209

- The Strategic Plan of INTOSAI 2023–2028 defines SAI independence as one of its organizational priorities: “Advocate for and support SAI independence”

- Adoption of the Mexico Declaration on the Independence of Supreme Audit Institutions (2007) defining eight basic pillars of SAI independence

- Development of the “SAI Independence Rapid Advocacy Mechanism” (SIRAM) by the INTOSAI Development Initiative. SIRAM is a four-stages mechanism that aims to help INTOSAI and the donor community to deliver timely and effective responses to political developments or legal reforms that may negatively affect the independence of a SAI.

- Establishment of the SAI Independence Resource Centre (SIRC) by the INTOSAI Development Initiative, which features resource kits, publications and supporting material on SAI independence.

- In January 2022, the INTOSAI Donor Cooperation (IDC) appointed Right Hon. Helen Clark as IDC Goodwill Ambassador for SAI Independence to provide INTOSAI with an influential voice to bring the issue of SAI independence on the global policy agenda, to raise awareness and to help mobilize support.

- In January 2022, the General Secretariat of INTOSAI informed UN Under-Secretary-General Liu Zhenmin about the findings of the IDI Global SAI Stocktaking Report.

- INTOSAI is closely working together with the international donor community, which has shown strong support for the independence of SAIs through impactful actions and programmes.
